agreement terms

introduction

Your agreement is with the Bridge Central (working name The Bridge), a registered charity (no.1071315) and a company (no.03606940) with registered office as 73-81 Southwark Bridge Road, SE1 0NQ.

This is a legal agreement between you and the Charity, so please make sure that you read it carefully and that you understand it.

By signing up to any of our membership options, you're agreeing to adhere to the Terms and Conditions and the Rules and Regulations set out by The Bridge. These documents are available when you sign up for a membership, on request and on our website.

the basics

By registering for the 12-month commitment (paid monthly) membership, you're agreeing to a commitment of at least 12 full calendar months' worth of monthly payments at £33 each. Please note that if you're a new member or are renewing your membership after a cancellation an automatic £25 enrolment fee will be added to your first payment. So, the total value of your first payment will be <FIRSTPAYMENTTOTAL>.

Your membership will be valid for a period of 12 months starting on <AGREEMENTDATE>.

Please note: You can't cancel this membership during the 12-month term of membership. For more information read our cancellation policy below.

This membership will automatically renew for another 12 months, unless you let us know ahead of expiry that you'd like to end your membership at the end of your 12-month commitment. You'll receive a reminder email before the expiry of your membership which provides you the option to end or continue this membership for another 12 months.

With the annual upfront membership, you can attend all standard fitness classes, unless stated otherwise on our website or timetable. Please note, that some classes run by external instructors, events, and workshops may be excluded from this membership, or you may have to pay extra.

your membership fees

By signing up to the gym, you're agreeing to the cost of your chosen membership. If you're not sure about the fees you're paying, please speak to a member of our team before signing up to the gym.

You must pay all your membership fees for the entire period of your contract, even if you don't use our facilities and services.

If you cancel your membership payments before your membership has ended, you'll be required to pay for any outstanding amounts.

payment

Payment may be made by credit or debit card. Your membership fees will be payable each month of your contract period and will become due on the same day each calendar month.

If you're a new customer, your autopay payments will be made on the same day as your membership start date each month.

non-payment of membership fees

There could be various reasons why you haven't paid the membership fee you agreed to pay because:

- the card details you gave us were wrong;
- there was not enough money available in your bank account; or
- you cancelled your membership without giving us notice.

If your membership fees become overdue and you owe us payments, you'll not be allowed to enter the gym until your payments are up to date.

- If the card details, you gave us were wrong or there wasn't enough money available in your bank account, we'll ask you to update your correct card details on your account via The Bridge App, the website or at reception. This will have to be done before you can access the gym.
- If, after the second month from when we contacted you, you still owe us the payment, we'll cancel your membership.
- We may appoint a debt-collection agency to collect any payments you owe, and you may have to pay any costs associated with this, including court costs.

group inductions

All memberships include a free group induction intro offer, where you'll be introduced to our equipment facilities and gym rules by one of our trainers. Please note, your free group induction expires one month after you bought your membership. You can book your group induction via the App, or at reception.

We understand that you may have used many gyms in the past, but each gym's equipment is different so for your safety and ours, please book an induction as soon as you join. We'll book you on to the first available group. This is a free induction and ideally, you should do it before you start using the gym. If for any reason you can't, you must do it within 2 weeks of starting your membership. By agreeing to these Terms and Conditions, you're agreeing to take part in an induction.

You can early cancel a scheduled group induction 6 hours before the appointment starts. If you early cancel, you can re-book via the App or by speaking to a member of The Bridge Reception Team.

If you cancel after the 6-hour cancellation window or you don't show up to your appointment, you'll lose your free group induction intro offer. As you'll still have to take part in a group induction, you'll need to book a new group induction via the App or by speaking to a member of The Bridge Reception Team. You'll have to pay an additional £5 charge for this.

booking confirmation

Your booking isn't complete until you've received a booking confirmation from us. If you don't receive a confirmation, please contact us by phone, e-mail, or in person.

personal inductions

After you've had your group induction and familiarised yourself with the gym, you may decide you want to take your training one step further. If so, we offer a onetime 1 hr one-to-one with a Personal Trainer for £25. They will discuss your training needs, observe your form, and write you a personalised programme so you take control of your training, and ensure you're working towards your fitness goals.

If you feel you benefitted from working out with a trainer, we also offer Personal Training. Please note that the trainers have individual price structures, and you'll need to contact them directly to discuss your needs.

booking and cancellation

You can book your personal induction via the App or at Reception.

You can early cancel a scheduled personal induction and programme appointment 6 hours before the appointment starts. If you cancel early, you'll be able to re-book your appointment via the App or by speaking to a member of The Bridge Reception Team.

If you cancel after the 6-hour cancellation window your account will be charged as if you'd attended. We'll not be able to refund for a late cancellation or for not showing up to your appointment.

Please note, you can only book your appointment within one year from the day that you originally purchased the appointment.

booking confirmation

Your booking isn't complete until you've received a booking confirmation from us. If you don't receive a confirmation, please contact us by phone, e-mail, or in person.

fitness classes (booking/cancellation)

You can attend all fitness classes as part of your membership, unless marked otherwise on the timetable.

To attend a fitness class, you must book a space via the App, our website or by speaking to a member of The Bridge Reception Team.

You can early cancel a scheduled class 1 hour before the class starts. You can either cancel through the App, website or by speaking to a member of The Bridge Reception Team.

If you cancel after the 1-hour cancellation window or if you don't show up to the class, your account will be charged with a no-show or late cancellation fee of £5. These resulting additional charges will be added automatically to your account.

Your booking for classes isn't complete until you've received a booking confirmation from us. If you don't receive a confirmation, please contact us by phone, e-mail, or in person.

lateness policy

We operate a policy which prevents you taking part in a session if you're more than 5 minutes late. This policy is in place to prevent injury and to be mindful of the trainer and other participants in the session. Where you're not permitted to join a session because of your late arrival this is classed as a no-show and you will automatically be charged £5.

membership cancellation policy

the cooling-off period

After you've joined The Bridge, you may cancel your membership for any reason within 14 days of joining. This is called the cooling-off period.

If you choose to cancel within these 14 days, we'll give you a full refund of your membership fee.

If you want to cancel your membership within the cooling-off period, you need to write to The Bridge to let us know not to take any further payments. To help us to improve our services, it would be useful to us, if you'd tell us your reason for cancelling. When we receive your written notice, we'll send you a response to confirm the date that your membership will end. If you don't receive this acknowledgement, you must assume that we haven't received your cancellation notice.

requesting a cancellation after cooling off period

After the cooling-off period you may cancel your membership within the 12-month commitment period for the following reasons only:

- pregnancy
- serious illness or serious injury
- you move house more than five miles away from the gym
- you're made redundant
- your office moves to more than 5 miles from the gym
- we close the gym for refurbishment for more than a month
- we significantly reduce the opening hours (unless this is temporary)
- we increase the membership fee that applies to you
- you change to an annual upfront membership.

To cancel your gym membership, you must send your notice in writing to The Bridge.

You must send your request in writing, seven days before your monthly billing date, otherwise payment may still be taken. If you're within your commitment period, we'll cancel the membership from the next upcoming billing date, if given sufficient notice.

You won't be able to access the gym from your next billing date onwards, after cancellation.

If you cancel your membership in writing (by post or e-mail), when we receive your written notice, we'll send you a response to confirm the date that your membership will end. If you don't receive this acknowledgement, you must assume that we haven't received your cancellation notice.

You'll be charged a £25 cancellation fee for cancelling your 12-month commitment membership. This will be charged to your account automatically.

after the 12-month commitment period has ended

As well as the above, you're entitled to cancel your membership if your commitment period has ended.

If you're on 12-month commitment membership, your commitment period will be one year from your sign-up date. Your membership end date is <CONTRACTENDDATE>.

We'll give you 10 days warning before your 12-month commitment membership will be automatically renewed. After your 12-month commitment membership has renewed, you will have another 10-day cooling off period from date of renewal to cancel for any reason (as stated in the cooling off clause of the cancellation policy).

freezing your membership

You may freeze your membership for up to 12 months for the following reasons:

- pregnancy
- serious illness or serious injury
- redundancy

If you want to freeze your membership for any of the above reasons, please write to us to let us know. It may take up to 5 working days to process any freeze requests. Please note, you can only freeze your membership once for each of the reasons stated above.

If you request to freeze with less than 5 working days' notice from your next payment date you may still be charged.

We can't freeze memberships from an earlier date and will not refund monthly fees paid before the membership was frozen.

Please note: You can only freeze your membership once for each of the reasons stated above.

At the discretion of senior management, memberships may also be frozen for certain religious periods, such as Ramadan (however this will be up to one calendar month maximum and only within the days of the religious period itself).

When submitting your request in writing, you must state the date from which you wish to start your freeze, the length of the freeze and the reason for the freeze.

Any reason given for a freeze that are not in line with those listed above will be at the discretion of management.

If you don't provide a reason, your request is unlikely to be granted.

We'll ask you to provide acceptable proof of the reason you give for freezing your membership.

You'll need to let us know when you plan to return. We'll automatically start your membership again and start taking payments on the date that we've agreed your membership will start again.

We'll not charge you membership fees while your membership is frozen and the number of days that your membership was frozen will be automatically added to the end date of your membership.

You'll not be allowed to use the gym or book any classes while your membership is frozen.

our rights

our right to cancel your membership

We may cancel your membership by giving you one month's notice in writing. In these circumstances, we'll refund you the balance.

We may cancel your membership without giving you notice, if:

- you seriously or repeatedly break the conditions of your membership;
- you allow another person to use your membership to access the gym;
- you use offensive or abusive language or use violent or offensive behaviour or if your behaviour puts our other members, guests or employees at risk.

If we cancel your membership for the reasons stated above, you'll not be permitted to use the gym in the future.

If we permanently close the gym, where possible, we'll give you at least one full calendar months' notice in writing. We'll send this to the e-mail address you've given us. We'll also put a notice on the member's information board and reception. We'll end your membership at the end of the months' notice and refund any membership fees you've already paid for the remaining commitment period.

If we receive official notice (for example, from the bank) that you have passed away, we will immediately cancel your membership and refund any fees you have paid for the remaining membership commitment period.

our right to cancel scheduled classes and appointments

The Bridge reserves the right to cancel scheduled classes and appointments (personal and/or group inductions) in the event of staff illness or any other unforeseen circumstances. We'll let you know about any cancellations via e-mail. The Bridge is not liable for any resulting inconvenience or costs incurred by participants.

refunds

We'll issue any refunds due to the card that we have on file for you and that you've been using to pay for memberships. Please note refunds could take up to 5-10 working days.

Cases in which we will not issue a refund include, but are not limited to if:

- any service, facility, or equipment is not available for health and safety reasons or if it's for the benefit of our members;

- you choose not to use a service, facility or equipment due to male maintenance workers being present on the gym floor:
- you've not used your membership for any period of time:
- you've exceeded the 'cooling off period' but would like to end your membership for any reasons beyond what is stated in our cancellation policy;
- there's evidence that you've breached any of our terms and conditions as contractually agreed upon at point of registration. This includes our zero-tolerance policy on disruptive, disrespectful, or aggressive behaviour.

If we can't provide all the services and facilities at the gym for 30 days or more in a row, or services and facilities are significantly reduced for 30 days or more in a row, for reasons or events beyond our reasonable control, you or we can cancel your agreement immediately after giving notice in writing. We don't have to pay you compensation in these circumstances.

Reasons or events beyond our reasonable control' could include, but aren't limited to: natural disasters, acts of terrorism, protests, riot, fire, explosion, flood, an epidemic, strikes or other labour disputes (whether or not they relate to our workforce), delays affecting suppliers or not being able to get suitable materials on time or at all.

our right to change your membership, these terms and conditions or the terms of gym use

We may, at any time, choose to withdraw a type of membership or a payment option for new members or members who want to change, restart, or renew their membership or payment option.

From time to time, we may change our monthly membership fees by any amount we think is reasonable.

We'll try to only change the fee at a maximum of once a year. However, we can't guarantee this. We'll tell you about any change that will apply to you and will give you at least one full calendar month notice before the change comes into effect. Please see your payment options for details of how fee changes will affect you.

We may make reasonable changes to these terms and conditions if the changes are for the benefit of the majority of our members. When we make changes that may affect you, we we'll give you reasonable notice of the changes we plan to make.

gym opening hours and closure periods

The Bridge Gym may be subject to closure during specific periods throughout the year. Closure periods may include, but are not limited to, holidays, maintenance, or unforeseen circumstances. We strive to provide a safe and well-maintained facility for our members.

Please refer to our official website (<https://www.thebridge-uk.org/>) for up-to-date information on gym opening hours and any scheduled closure periods. It is the responsibility of the member to stay informed about these details.

We reserve the right to change gym opening hours and closure periods at our discretion. Any changes will be communicated through our official communication channels, including the website and notices posted within the gym premises.

Members are encouraged to check the website regularly for announcements and updates regarding gym closure periods.

We may need you to provide satisfactory proof of:

- your eligibility for any type of membership, either before your membership starts or at any time during your membership;
- your entitlement to cancel or freeze your membership;
- any email you sent to confirm cancellation, or the date you posted your cancellation notice (or both).

If you can't provide satisfactory proof, you may not be permitted to apply for a certain type of memberships, or we may not be able to cancel your membership.
